GALATI IS TAKEN; HUGE NAZI LOSSES

By NATALIA RENE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, Aug. 28.—Roaring deep into the heart of capitulated Romania today, a flood of Soviet armor and infantry threatened hourly to wrest the rich Ploesti oil fields from the grasp of the Nazi, after capturing Galati and knocking out 18,000 more German troops.

In eight days of fighting in Romania, the Russian high command said, 220,000 Germans have been either killed or captured.

In their victorious sweep the Soviet forces seized the strategic rail and highway junction of Focani and the vital rail city of Ramnicul-Sarat, some 57 miles from the fabulous oil fields.

According to a Romania communist newspaper, troops joining the Allies struck at German forces inside Ploesti and an "unusually ferocious" battle was being waged.

Germans Surrender In Doves

The latest Russian victories were achieved with such dazzling speed that the dazed Germans were surrendering in doves. Eight thousand prisoners were taken by the second Ukrainian army in its drive through Focani and Ramnicul while an incomplete report from the Third Ukrainian army seizure of Galati told of more than 10,000 Nazis captured in that area.

Two Romanian divisions of 12,000 men, with all their equipment, surrendered and the tattered remnants of two other divisions also gave in.

Four Generals Killed

The Soviet midnight communiqué revealed that four German generals had been killed and another four captured in the fighting southwest of Ploesti.

PA NEWC Observes

Of course we knew the situation was sometimes bad, but Pa Newc still isn't sure he ought to believe the newcomer to New Castle who says "she rode the buses for two weeks before she knew there were seats in them."

There appears to be little explanation for some downtown sights. On Sunday afternoon a youth was walking in the downtown streets on a pair of slits.

One week from today will be Labor Day. No special programs are being arranged for the day, and it will be spent quietly according to all indications. ODT officials have urged that civilian travel be cut to a minimum for the week-end holiday this year.

Maybe a harbinger of an early return toward normal times. Two large new trucks were being driven overland through the city yesterday and they gave no indication of being in the military service.

Weather note: State Capitol veterans at Harrisburg predict an early and snowy winter because the squirrels inhabiting Capitol Park have started burying nuts close to the trees where they will be easily accessible to their homes when deep snows blanket the ground.

Robot Bomb Bases Most Desired Goal Of Allied Advance

By MAJOR PAUL C. RABORG
(Written Especially For International News Service)
NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—(INS)—There is much speculation as to why Gen. Patton's armored columns after passing through Troyes might have turned northeastward to the Marne river.

The pattern of Allied strategy in France commences to emerge with considerable clarity. In the north and west, all of the Normandy and all of the Brittany peninsulas are held by the British and American troops. There is still an enemy-held coastal strip on the Bay of Biscay which includes Brest, Lorient and St. Nazaire. That is immaterial to the over-all picture because those German garrisons are doomed. However, the recent land, sea and air attack against Brest, is a fair indication that the supreme command desires effort to hold the east bank of the Seine, and our bridge-heads across that river to the north and south of Paris were accomplished only after terrific fighting.

To Eliminate Robot Bases
We may rest assured that the most desired Allied strategy victory at this time in all of France is to eliminate the robot bombing bases (Continued on Page Two)

Toulon Taken But Is Found Badly Ruined

By LARRY NEWMAN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

TOULON, Aug. 28.—The great French naval base of Toulon is a shambles today after a week of bitter street fighting and savage aerial pounding.

The bomb and shell damage in Toulon is the heaviest yet seen in any large Mediterranean city. Yet the grateful residents of the city celebrated its liberation yesterday with all the enthusiasm they could muster. Half of the population is without homes, but happy to be free of the Nazi yoke at last.

Actually, Toulon will be of little value to the Allies until the Germans are cleared from the St. Mandrier peninsula, from where the enemy can blast the harbor and port area, making it impossible for engineers to get to work on the demolished harbor facilities.

Harbor Wrecked
I toured the waterfront dock area and was convinced that it will be a considerable time before the harbor can be put into use again, even after (Continued on Page Two)

Battering Air Raids On Japs Will Increase

By RICHARD V. HALLER
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

PEARL HARBOR, Aug. 28.—United States aerial forces today prepared to continue their battering assaults against Jap-held islands in the Pacific following disclosure by Pacific fleet headquarters of another series of widespread raids.

Seventh AAF Liberators roared more than 42 tons of explosives on the airfield and defense installations at Iwo Jima in the Volcano Islands, 750 miles south of the Japanese homeland. Two enemy fighter planes were destroyed and two were damaged by the big four-motored bombers which carried out the raid last Friday.

Dump Bombs On Japs
On the preceding day, Seventh Liberators dumped 64 tons of bombs on defense installations at Truk atoll. Eight enemy fighters attempted interception and one was damaged while all the army planes returned safely.

SERIES OF BITTER BATTLES DEVELOP

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

ROME, Aug. 28.—American forces have smashed their way to the banks of the Rhone river in the vicinity of Montelimar, 90 miles northwest of Marseille, inflicting heavy losses on the Germans in a series of bitter battles which are still going on, Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson's headquarters announced today.

On the eastern coastal flank, other American units have reached the Var river.

Mopping Up Continues
Mopping up operations continue in the great port cities of Marseille and Toulon, with a total of more than 7,000 prisoners already taken at the two sea bases.

In the past few days, the communiqué said, the Nazis have been desperately fighting off the American threat to the Rhone river, an outflanking maneuver, but they have been badly mauled by the Doughboys.

All told, more than 30,000 Nazis (Continued on Page Two)

Italian Front German Forces Dropping Back

ROME, Aug. 28.—(INS)—Nazi forces on the Italian front today gave additional evidence of their intention to withdraw to more advantageous positions covering the formidable Gothic line.

But troops of the British Eighth Army swiftly and relentlessly pursued the retreating Germans to regain contact with them four miles north and six miles east of Pontassieve, 47 miles southwest of Rimini, eastern anchor of the Gothic line.

Leading Allied elements on the upper Arno engaged Germans in the hills west of Bibbiena, some 10 miles east and a little south of Pontassieve.

Allied patrols, thrusting forward in the Apennine range, reached Piobbico and Fermano.

In the Adriatic sector, Polish and Italian forces of the Eighth Army occupied Isoladelpiano and Monbarocci, and penetrated into the outskirts of the Port of Fano, some 20 miles below Rimini.

Bulgaria To Receive Terms Of Surrender

Old Timers Day Comes This Week

Cooler Weather Expected To Attract Larger Crowd
To Annual Reunion
At Park

Once again, the eve of Old Timers Day has arrived, and the general committee, headed by President Richard P. Dana, is looking forward to another successful reunion, which takes place on Wednesday, August 30, at Cascade Park pavilion, starting promptly at 1:30 o'clock.

It was announced that the registration, ladies reception, and floor committees will be the same as last year, all of whom have been zealous workers in the past, assuring that the various functions for which they have been named will be well taken care of.

President Dana believes that the cooler weather being experienced this week, plus the fact that the city buses run right to the lower entrance, only a few steps away from the pavilion will result in a large crowd being on hand for the occasion.

All arrangements for the event are complete and many old time residents of this city and surrounding community are looking forward to the opportunity to again greet the friends of their childhood.

YANKS NOW 28 MILES FROM PARIS

By CHARLES A. SMITH
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, Aug. 28.—History's third battle of Marne opened today to the thunders of artillery and the rumble of tanks when American Doughboys drove headlong across that river and captured the battered city of Meaux which held the eyes of the world in the anxious days of 1914.

It was at Meaux, 28 miles east-northeast of Paris, that the French stemmed the first German juggernaut in September, 1914, and it was near there that the Hunns were defeated in the gruelling second battle of the Marne in July, 1918.

Today, for the second time in 26 years, American Doughboys were in possession of the city and the Germans on the run.

A spokesman at Allied headquarters announced the liberation of Meaux shortly after the routine communiqué telling only of general advances all along the front was issued.

The spokesman disclosed that Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr.'s third army has taken a total of 65,000 Nazi prisoners and killed 16,000 since it began its sensational operations in France.

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, Aug. 28.—Crack German parachute troops who made history by their rescue of Benito Mussolini from Allied internment in Italy were reported captured near Paris today while American forces pounded eastward at breakneck pace, capturing the Marne river city of Meaux.

Meaux, 28 miles east-northeast of Paris, was the scene of the first and second battles of the Marne in the last war, and all signs indicated a third great struggle in the bend of the famous river whose crossing places the Allies well on the way to Alsace-Lorraine and the German border.

Headquarters of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower announced continuation of mopping-up operations in the northern suburbs of Paris. It was in this area that the German sky troops who plucked Mussolini from (Continued on Page Two)

If we got just what we ordered in the weather, we would likely want to change it now and then, for there'd be so much dissension by the people that we'd likely want to send it back again. But if we could get just what we wanted several days, for tomatoes are not ripening too quickly and they need a lot of heavy, warming rays. But we get just what is sent, of course we like it, and the weatherman will pay no heed to me, for of course I'm only offering a suggestion, it's kind of damp and down to sixty-three.

Gen. Eisenhower Greeted In Paris

Allied Commander Makes Visit To French Capital On Sunday

By CLARK LEE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

PARIS, Aug. 27.—(Noon)—(Delayed)—Paris was still in a holiday mood today despite the wild shooting affray which endangered the life of Gen. Charles DeGaulle and the German bombing which took the lives of innocent civilians who had thought the war was over for them.

When Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, supreme allied commander on the western front, and Lieut. Gen. Omar N. Bradley, commander of the U. S. 12th army group, visited the French capital today they were mobbed and kissed by enthusiastic French girls and women.

The American generals made a quick tour of Paris with Air Chief Marshal Sir Arthur W. Tedder, Admiral Sir Andrew Cunningham, Gen. Jacques Leclerc and Maj. Gen. Leonard T. Gerow.

Wildly Cheered

Riding in limousines escorted by armored cars, the generals were cheered wherever they went, even though it is reported that the popular French people were so excited they did not see Gen. DeGaulle today.

At the Arc De Triomphe, Eisenhower and Bradley were surrounded by enthusiastic French of both sexes who were anxious to embrace the American commanders. The girls got their first Gen. Bradley up and some lipstick from his cheek and asked photographers not to record the scene for posterity.

Gen. Eisenhower declined to discuss the purposes of his visit to the capital except to say:

"I have come here to pay tribute to the indomitable spirit of Paris."

As an eye-witness of the first of the first shot in yesterday's un-disciplined gun play, I am quite convinced that it was the result of tense nerves and not attempt to assassinate Gen. DeGaulle.

Nazi Bombers Attack Paris

LONDON, Aug. 28.—(INS)—Paris has been liberated from the clutches of the Nazis, but it is still not altogether free from the horrors of war.

That fact was amply demonstrated by the Germans when they bombed the city Saturday night and followed it up with strafing and shelling attacks Sunday morning.

The Paris radio said the latest casualty figures of Saturday's raid on Paris were 108 killed and 718 injured. Two hundred and ninety houses were destroyed and 250 damaged.

The area around the Arc De Triomphe, as well as the Gare De L'Est, the Latin quarter and the Bois De Boulogne, were "particularly badly hit" by German bombers Sunday, the Swiss radio said today in a broadcast reported by the FCC.

Meanwhile, the mayor of Paris and his entire staff were reported arrested by French patriots and new officers are being selected.

ter the engineers got to work. Scores of heavy naval vessels and small craft were sunk and demolished.

There are still many Nazi dead in various buildings and numerous dead horses litter the streets, mute testimony to the shortage of motor transport the enemy is suffering. The carcasses are being burned in the streets.

Heavy German fortifications north of the city which the Nazis failed to use proved they were surprised by the quick envelopment of Toulon by the Allies. But they put up a stubborn battle for the city nevertheless.

in the so-called Pas De Calais area. The Somme river empties into the English channel about midway between Bologne and Dieppe. That river is probably at about the southern line of the robot base areas.

There were really two battle lines across France in 1940. The farthest to the south was formed roughly by the Seine and the Marne. Perhaps Patton wishes to cross the Marne to be in a position to flank any attempted German defense along the line of that river.

The second and northern most line was along the Somme river from its mouth including parts of the Aisne and Meuse rivers. Perhaps Patton and his crashing armored columns desire not only to cross the Marne, but to drive on northeastward and cross that second possible line of German defense—also for flanking purposes.

Perhaps, once the 3rd Army is loose in that area of France to the north and east of the Seine river and Paris, it can clean up at will as it did in Britain.

Perhaps, once that American mechanized and motorized army led by Patton has crossed over those old battle lines it can make a dash at the Robot bomb base from directly in rear of Calais. The fighting in France has reached a stage where anything can happen.

Posthumous Award For Sgt. Carl Falba

Flyer's Mother Receives Air Medal Presented By Army To Son Lost Over Germany

Presentation of the Army Air Medal was made posthumously to Staff Sergeant Carl Falba by First Lieutenant Robert Hilliard of the AAF Saturday evening in the Ne-shamock post 315 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, according to P. T. Sargent, district commander.

Sergeant Falba's mother, Mrs. Theresa Falba of Morris street, received the medal for her son who was lost in action over Germany. First reported wounded, the flyer was later reported killed in action on February 10. He had been stationed overseas since July, 1943. Four brothers are also in service.

Lieutenant Hilliard, who made the presentation, is now stationed in Pittsburgh after completing a long tour of duty with the Eighth AAF.

WAC Recruitment Corporal Arrives

Col. L. V. Trescott, WAC, has been assigned to the local recruiting office and arrived in New Castle today, according to Cpl. Phyllis Soucy, of the WAC office here.

Cpl. Trescott was stationed in Butler before coming to New Castle. Her home town is Pomeroy, Wash. Before going to the recruiting office in Butler she was stationed for 8 months at Indiantown Gap with the motor transport.

WAC headquarters are in the post office building where Cpl. Soucy and Cpl. Trescott are interested in securing inquiries from women between the ages of 20 and 30 who are dependents under 14 and who have completed two years of high school.

Mrs. Edna Jane Weatherby
Mrs. Edna Jane Weatherby, aged 32 years, wife of Samuel E. Weatherby of 1013 Wilson avenue, died Saturday evening at 9:55 o'clock following a short illness, in the Jameson Memorial hospital. Mrs. Weatherby, daughter of Charles and Margaret Kelly Parks, was born here October 26, 1891. Her entire life was spent in this city. She was a member of the Christian and Missionary Alliance church.

In addition to her husband and parents, all of this city, the survivors are: three sons, Cpl. Franklin C. Weatherby, Camp Rucker, Ala.; Pte. Harry E. Weatherby in the South Pacific area and Seaman 1st Walter W. Weatherby with the U. S. Navy; two daughters, Mrs. Harry Isaac and Mrs. William Hiler, both of this city; three sisters, Mrs. Willis Fye, Mrs. Carl Covert and Mrs. Henry Grossman of this city; three brothers, Joseph, Paul and Charles Parks of this city, and eight grandchildren.

A daughter, Mrs. Amos Young, preceded her in death on August 1, 1942.

Members of the family will meet friends at the Burke funeral home, North Jefferson street, Tuesday afternoon from 2 to 4 o'clock and from 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock this evening and Tuesday evening.

Funeral arrangements will be announced in Tuesday's paper.

Washington Roundup

(International News Service)

American, British and Russian delegates to the international security conference are back in Washington today to resume their task of streamlining the allied plans into one common agreement which they hope will constitute the foundation stone for future world peace.

The delegates, it is revealed, are almost as optimistic that the United Nations will win the peace as American and British commanders in France are that the allies will win the war. So encouraged are the delegates that they spent the past week-end celebrating in New York.

Congressional leaders in foreign affairs, however, are adding their voices to appeals for greater publicity in the conference. Demands for lifting the secrecy ban are being supported in Democratic as well as Republican quarters. Both Sen. Connally (D) Tex., chairman of the foreign relations committee, and Sen. George (D) Ga., former chairman, says there should be more information on the discussions.

Washington diplomatic circles report, meanwhile, that criticism of the British policy toward India by President Roosevelt's personal representative, Ambassador William Phillips, has resulted in a British request for his recall. The state department announced Aug. 17 that Phillips was returning to the United States next month for "urgent family reasons."

The fall of Galati came shortly after the announcement that the Red army hordes had taken Rul, 11 miles east of the big city on the Danube. It was also announced earlier that on Romanian oil district around Moinești, 40 miles southeast of Bucharest, had been liberated.

Bitter fighting was reported above captured Focsani and northwest of Galati where Soviet mobile troops, including colorful Cossack forces, battled their way along roads and passes leading into Transylvania.

Along the railway leading into the Transylvanian plateau the Russians captured a number of locomotives, including Comaresti, 62 miles northwest of Focsani, and Romania's great salt mining center of Targuocina.

On the Estonian front, 50 towns and villages were captured by Gen. Ivan Maslennikov's Third Balkan army, including Tskulula and Igaaste, seven miles northeast of the Latvian-Estonian border city of Valga—big railway center.

Gen. Eisenhower announced establishment of a new bridgehead across the Seine due east of Louviers during the night. Allied armor also is across the Seine at the town of Vernon.

Roulet and Buineville near the mouth of the Seine were captured while reconnaissance units reached Quillebeuf.

German forces which succeeded in building a pontoon bridge across the Seine at Rouen found themselves at the mercy of Allied aircraft. Bombing planes blew up the structure the moment it was completed.

The whole German "holdout" army in the Rouen loop took a terrific aerial hammering during the day.

Allied air headquarters announced that 400 fighter-bombers operating throughout Belgium, Holland and Germany in the last few hours destroyed 200 railway coaches and damaged 1,000 others. In addition, 200 motor trucks were destroyed, while hits were scored on bridges, barges, tanks and enemy anti-aircraft emplacements.

that the Marne itself has yet been crossed, but the spokesman declared that it was entirely possible.

German forces in the Rouen sector, some 28 miles east of Le Havre, are being steadily compressed and there are indications that Rouen itself may be outflanked by American forces wheeling northward toward the rocket gun coast.

These forces, it is believed, are engaged in a gigantic outflanking maneuver designed to sever communications between remnants of the German 15th army and the Nazi homeland.

Advance Toward Brest

At the western end of the front, allied forces have advanced, other 1,000 yards toward the great port of Brest, in which the isolated German garrison continues to hold out. The headquarters spokesman, describing the situation in this area, said that Brest is now "closely invested on the landward side."

Only scattered groups of Nazis are being encountered along the Marne, which flows almost due east of Paris along a twisting course, but enemy resistance is much heavier between the Seine and the Marne, in the area southeast of the French capital.

Northwest of Paris, in the Manches-Gasscourt area, American tanks and supplies are flowing across the Seine in a steady stream.

Aerial reconnaissance shows a railway movement is under way from the low countries to the Seine area. This movement, it was said, may be interpreted in two ways, one that the Germans are bringing up trains for the evacuation of their sorely pressed units in northern France and the other that they may be bringing up reinforcements.

Meux was reached by a column pushing eastward along the Marne from Logny, 15 miles east of Paris.

Council Opens Bids For Repair Work Projects

Bids for improvements to be made by the city were opened at this morning's council meeting in City Hall. The bids for repairs to badly deteriorated concrete work of the sewage disposal plant were as follows, with each bidder furnishing his own specifications for the job: Andrew Pihlles, $2,890; Marthev Levo and Sons, $4,884 for part of the work, and $2,930 for another part.

Bids were also opened for retretment of the carway of County Line street between the east line of Walnut street and 320 feet east of Crawford avenue. City engineer John Street certified that the work should be done at an estimated cost of $5,040. Bids were as follows: New Castle Duntle company, $4,075.50; E. F. Scanlon $4,600; Beaver Asphalt Paving and Construction company $4,320.

Estimated cost of repair and repaving on Terrace avenue from Moravia street to Morris was given as $4,505. Bids were received from Beaver Asphalt company, $4,570; Eugene Scanlon, $4,400; and the New Castle Duntle company, $4,225.

All bids were referred by the council to the committee of the whole for further consideration.

JAP GARRISONS IN EAST INDIES TO BE BY-PASSED

United States sea and air units can cut all avenues of supply between Japan proper and her stolen empire in the East Indies.

That Japan is not taking the fate of such isolated garrisons lightly was indicated by the enemy's radio which bemoaned the plight of its garrison on the once formidable base at Truk.

The Tokyo radio complained that American planes raided Truk by day and night from bases within a stone's throw of the by-passed stronghold in the Carolines.

Long Bombing

The enemy broadcast said that sometimes the with the result that "the exhaustion of our pilots and the loss of aircraft are inescapable."

Truk has been virtually cut off from all sources of supply since American forces invaded the Marshalls and then moved on far beyond the Carolines to take Saipan and Guam.

The Tokyo broadcast reported that troops in the isolated areas were turning wasteland into gardens in an effort to keep from starving.

However, it was recalled that Admiral William F. Halsey, Jr., on a recent visit to Washington told newsmen that American airmen added to the worries of such enemy truck gardeners by spraying the crops with diesel oil.

Believe 10,000 Starving

An estimated 10,000 Japanese are believed to be starving on four atolls in the Marshalls. These enemy strongholds are being raided by United States planes almost daily but no effort has been made to capture the islands.

The same fate was handed out to thousands of Japanese troops on Bougainville and New Guinea in the southwest Pacific when MacArthur's forces by-passed Japanese strongholds and left the enemy to "die on the vine."

Now with the bombing of Halmahera and Davao, MacArthur appears to be heading straight for the Philippines and such a move would isolate countless thousands of Japanese on Java and other islands in the East Indies.

Transport Planes Drop Supplies To Chinese Defenders

Twenty-Five Tons Of Food, Ammunition, Medicine Dropped At Hengyang

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—(INS)—The war department disclosed today that twenty-five tons of ammunition, food and medical supplies were dropped by United States Army Fourteenth Air Force unarmed transport planes to aid the Chinese defenders of Hengyang in their last ditch stand against the Japanese.

"We flew through local storms and then saw the city, pinpointed by the fires inside the wall," said Lt. John W. Williamson of Ninety-Six, S. C., leader of the flight. "As we approached, we saw one Jap plane. Apparently the Japanese on the field thought we were friendly because they gave us the green light to land. We paid no attention to the invitation."

"We swung over the city and circled until we saw the circle of lights where we were to drop our load. The circle was a ring of paper lanterns made in the open part of the city."

"We were over the targets ten minutes, dropped our stuff and beat it. There were Japs on both sides. Infantry fired at us with their rifles. Some of their shots hit the ships. No great damage was done, and we all got back safely. That's all there is to it."

An Allied aerial announcement disclosed that the landings in southern France are proceeding "according to plan" and added that there is great minesweeping activity off the newly occupied ports and coastal sectors.

Units of the Allied navies are continuing to support both flanks of the Riviera drive.

Toulon Liberated

Toulon has been completely liberated after a week of bloody fighting but the Germans still hold positions from which they can prevent the Allies from using the badly damaged harbor, which is cluttered with sunken vessels.

The Nazis are still holding out in the three-mile long St. Mandrier peninsula, guarding the entrance to Toulon harbor, from which positions they can still pour shells into Allied positions as well as the harbor area itself.

It is estimated that American forces battling in the Montelimar area inflicted some 15,000 casualties on the battered remnants of the Nazi 19th army attempting to withdraw northward through the Rhone valley.

Panzer Chewed Up

Particularly chewed up were the 11th panzer and 198th infantry divisions, which reinforced scattered elements of three other Nazi divisions in the Riviera sector.

The better part of the German 242nd and 244th divisions were lost at Marseille and Toulon.

According to Allied headquarters four divisions of the Nazi 19th army may be considered to have been knocked out of the fight.

It was revealed that Brig. Gen. Frederick Butler, assistant Sixth Corps commander, led the flying column with captured Grenoble, officially the northernmost city thus far taken by the Allied drive in southern France.

Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, has a real estate boom and prices are soaring.

WAGNER-WALTON WEDDING IN CHURCH

An impressive wedding of interest here, was quietly celebrated in Epworth Methodist church on Sunday morning, August 27, at 10:30 o'clock, when Miss Katherine R. Wagner, daughter of Mrs. Katharine Long, 210 Stewart Place, became the bride of Pvt. Theodore Greenlee Walton of the U. S. Army Air Forces stationed at Fort Monmouth, New Jersey, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Walton of Beaver street, Beaver, Pa.

Vows were exchanged in the presence of the immediate families of the couple, with the Rev. W. A. Tornton, pastor, officiating. He used the double ring service.

For her marriage, the bride wore a moss green fall suit with a matching feather hat, and maize accessories. Her shoulder corsage was of yellow tea roses, and her only jewelry was a pair of pearl earrings, a gift of the bridegroom. Mrs. W. Henry Stewart of this city as matron of honor, was attired in an aqua wool length dress with coffee brown accompaniments, and a shoulder bouquet of red roses.

Cpl. Alfred I. Flocker, technician, fifth grade of the U. S. Army, a life long chum of the bridegroom, of Van Port, and recently returned from the African and Italian campaigns overseas, served as best man.

A congratulatory report followed in the church, and later an informal reception was held at the home of the bride's mother for the guests. A buffet lunch was served. Aides included Mrs. John Wagner, sister-in-law of the bride and her daughter Nancy Wagner, Eleanor Pittit, Mrs. James K. Steele, a sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Billie Wallace.

Pvt. and Mrs. Walton have dispensed with a wedding trip until later, and she will continue her work as a stenographer in the offices of the Register and Recorder at the Lawrence County Court House for the present. Prior to entering the U. S. armed forces, Pvt. Walton was affiliated with the Crucible Steel Co., at Midland, Pa., as an electrician.

Out of town guests included Mrs. G. W. Walton, George Walton and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Walton of Beaver; Mr. and Mrs. John Wagner and daughter Nancy of Lakewood, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. James K. Steele, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Dowdell and Mrs. Anna Fowler of Vanport; John Eyer of Midland and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Dixon of Youngstown, Ohio.

Many lovely wedding and shower gifts received by the bride were displayed at her home to the guests.

PHILLIPS SOCIETY DINNER ON TUESDAY

Phillips Missionary society of the First Christian church, together with their husbands, will gather at the summer cottage of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Boyd on Chapin road, Tuesday evening, for a 6:30 o'clock dinner, which is a change in previous plans.

Committee in charge is composed of the following: Mrs. J. R. Mitchell, Mrs. John Covert, Mrs. William Murphy, Miss Lillian Matthews and Miss Claire Smyth.

EVENING PARTY OR BRIDE AND GROOM

Young Married People's class of the East Brook Methodist church was entertained by Miss Peg Waddington at her home in East Brook Saturday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Waddington (nee Bette Davis), a bride and groom of August 5.

Games were a pastime and the prize for winning the most games was won by Mrs. Waddington.

The newlyweds received a number of beautiful and useful gifts for their newly furnished home in East Brook.

Lunch was served with Mrs. John Pontius assisting.

DINNER-SHOWER FOR BRIDE-ELECT

For Miss Carol Henderson, whose wedding will be an event of Tuesday evening, Miss Miriam Thomas was hostess at a dinner and miscellaneous shower at her home on Summer avenue Saturday evening. The dinner was another in a series of lovely parties that have been given for her since announcement of her engagement.

Dinner was served at 6:30 and places were marked with individual corsages of yellow gladiolus. Arrangements of fall flowers were placed throughout the house.

Following presentation of shower gifts to the prospective bride, three tables of contract bridge were in play. Prizes were awarded Miss Jo Palumbo of Clairton and Miss Audrey Bridenbaugh, with the guest of honor holding the gallop at the close of play.

A number of the guests present were sorority sisters of the hostess and bride-elect in Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority at Grove City college. Out-of-town guests included Miss Janet Frazier and Miss Mildred Ehrler of Pittsburgh, Miss Jo Palumbo of Clairton, Miss Marjorie Prosser of Munhall, Miss Evelyn Moon of Sharon and Miss Rebecca Johns of Farrell.

An open church ceremony at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday evening at Highland U. P. church, Miss Henderson will be married to William B. Conn, U.S.N.R., of Detroit. The bride-elect is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E. F. Henderson of East Lincoln avenue.

REFORMED CHURCH PLANS CORN ROAST

Sabbath School Association of the Reformed Presbyterian church, is sponsoring a corn roast in the basement of the church to take place Tuesday evening, August 29, at 6:30 o'clock. The invitation is extended to all members, associates who attend services at the church, and children, to participate.

Section A Luncheon

Section A of the Y. L. B. class of the Third U. P. church met recently in the home of Mrs. James Gorman, East Washington street, for a luncheon to honor Mrs. R. A. Pattison of St. Cloud, Fla., who is visiting here.

Mrs. Mae Vogan of Harlansburg invited the membership to her home Wednesday, September 30, for a similar event, a luncheon being served at noon. Transportation for this date will be provided at 10:30 a. m. at the corner of North Jefferson and North streets.

Special guests at the Gorman home were Mrs. J. A. Wilson and Mrs. Tait.

Medal Of Honor Given Michigan Staff Sergeant

Staff Sgt. Jessie R. Drowley Wins
Coveted Medal For Action Against Japs

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—(INS)—The War Department announced today the award of the Congressional Medal of Honor to Staff Sgt. Jessie R. Drowley, 24, of Luzerne, Mich., for extraordinary heroism against the Japanese on Bougainville Island.

Although his duties as squad leader were to study under cover as reserve for an assault party, Drowley braved intense enemy fire to rescue three badly wounded members of the assault group.

In the course of the rescue Drowley discovered an enemy pill box, unseen by the assaulting tanks, which was the main barrier to a successful advance.

He ran across open terrain to one of the tanks, climbed to the turret, and riding along on the tank, directed it to the pillbox with tracer bullets. Within 20 feet of the pillbox, Drowley suffered a serious chest wound but refused to climb down for medical treatment. The tank advanced until it had definitely located the pillbox. Meanwhile, Drowley's left eye was shot out.

He fell to the ground, but lay alongside the tank until the pillbox was destroyed and only then returned for aid.

Brothers Already In Service,
Leaves Wednesday

When "Dewey" Dewberry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dewberry, of R. D. 2, leaves Wednesday for service with the armed forces, he will be the fourth of the Dewberrys' sons to go.

Two of his brothers are in the South Pacific, Cpl. Louis Dewberry, who is with the anti-aircraft in New Guinea, and Sgt. Frank Dewberry, who is in the U. S. Marine Corps, air corps, stationed in Munda. The latter just recently received a promotion to his present rating.

Second Lt. Ellsworth Dewberry is a glider pilot and took part in the invasion of southern France.

During the summer months "Dewey" Dewberry has been a popular feature of Friday evening Swing Lobby at the Y. W. C. A.

Ford Employees
Return To Work
DETROIT, Aug. 28.—(INS)—A strike which had threatened to halt production at the Ford River Rouge and Willow Run plants and throw 51,000 workers into idleness was apparently ended today as Ford Highland Park employees returned to their jobs.

Company officials reported that 85 per cent of the day shift was back to work. A number of workers had returned on the night shift but not enough for production to be resumed in all departments.

Picket lines were removed last night following a meeting of 1,500 members of Local 400, UAW-CIO. The employees heard back-to-work appeals from union, army procurement, labor department and state mediation board representatives.

Herbert Hindmarsh, president of Local 400, read a War Labor Board order directing the men back to work and then adjourned the meeting.

East Side Honor Roll Nearing Completion

It is announced by the committee in charge that the cabinet case for the Honor Roll to contain the names of those in the Armed Forces from central East Side, has been completed.

All is ready now to put in the lights. The flagpole and the flag have been purchased, and the Eagle to surmount the stone work has been arranged for.

Completion is being held up awaiting the clearing of the stone work.

The names that have been collected and handed in, have been typewritten and are on display in the window of Jake Emery's store, 515 South Ray street. The list will remain there for a week for inspection, for alterations if necessary, and for additional names for the honor roll. After a week's time, the names will be arranged for insertion within the cabinet.

The location of the honor roll is in Jackson Park in the 500 block of East Washington street.

Type Of Persons Receiving Public Assistance Given

Practically All Are Unemployables—
Old Age And Blind Pensions
Are Paid

If the number of persons receiving public assistance is any indication of the amount of unemployment in the state, then almost every employable person is working, according to Robert P. Wray, acting secretary of public assistance.

General assistance cases, which have been decreasing since the latter half of the 1930's, now consist mostly of one person past middle age who lives alone, has received assistance for many years and is unemployable because of physical or mental infirmities. This, says Mr. Wray, represents a material change from the period of high unemployment, when most general assistance cases consisted of families with one or more employable members.

Lawrence County Cases
For the week ending August 19, Lawrence county has 145 cases receiving general assistance. A few of these cases represented aid to more than one person, because the total number of persons receiving assistance during the week was 176.

Old age assistance cases also consist usually of one person, past 65. This person lives alone, is native-born and has been receiving assistance for many years. During the month of July 843 persons received aid under the old age assistance program in Lawrence county.

Blind Pensions
The typical blind pension case consists of one blind person, quite old, who is native born and who became blind late in life. He, too, has received aid for many years, and though often unmarried, widowed, separated or divorced, the blind person generally lives with a family group. One hundred and thirty-seven such cases were listed in this county for the month of July.

Unlike most of the other cases, those which come under aid to dependent children seldom consist of one person alone. "Much more often, the aid is to a mother and her children who live as a family group. These people are usually native-born, and the mother widowed, separated or divorced, is needed in the home to care for the children."

In Lawrence county the 150 dependent children cases for the month of July represented 618 persons, Mr. Wray pointed out.

Martin In Pittsburgh, Wears Dewey Button

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 28.—(INS)—Republican Governor Edward Martin of Pennsylvania was in Pittsburgh Saturday sporting a Dewey-for-President button.

Concerning the campaign, Governor Martin said: "The people are resenting the use for partisan county activity of organizations which were formed for the good of a certain type of people."

"We (the Republicans) are going to win this thing. We are going to carry Pennsylvania. Some folks say that it depends on Pennsylvania and I am satisfied if it is that way."

tide of fighting gas!

Now another giant new catalytic cracking plant goes into production . . . climaxing Atlantic's $22,000,000 program of rolling out fighting gas.

This Port Arthur, Texas, unit is a twin of the plant completed by Atlantic at Point Breeze, Philadelphia, just a few weeks ago.

Pouring from the new "cats" day and night, a flood of added war fuel carries Atlantic production to the high-tide in three years of ever-mounting output.

The new upsurge comes as part of the answer to "most urgent" pleas of U. S. generals at the attack fronts. They have called for shipments of fighting fuel "above and beyond all previous estimates." And they are getting them.

To help keep bomber and fighter planes flying, tanks plunging forward . . . mechanized divisions rolling on . . . is the great objective of Atlantic expenditure today.

It is also an investment in tomorrow . . . when Atlantic will process high-octane motor gasoline . . . bringing you the most economical, most powerful car fuel you have ever known.

A SYNTHETIC TIRE
SO GOOD!

THE NEW U.S. ROYAL
De Luxe

Even tire men had their fingers crossed when they were faced with the job of building tires entirely from the new government synthetic rubber GR-S. Many said it couldn't be done. But it was done! And in record time! Today, the new U.S. Royal De Luxe synthetic tire, when driven at wartime speeds and given the kind of care any good tire deserves is doing a job so good that it's close to pre-war performance—and improvements are still being made. When you are eligible for new tires, remember, the new U.S. Royal De Luxe synthetic tires are good tires!

IT'S VENTILATED! The open-spaced tread design and deep-cut shoulders allow cooling air to circulate freely drawing heat away from the body of the tire. This is vitally important in synthetic tires.

IT'S SAFETY BONDED! Every cord is bathed in a specially compounded solution that locks the cords firmly into layers of synthetic rubber cushion. Safety Bonding means extra miles of safe service.

IT'S MILEAGE-TESTED! In the laboratory and on the road, U.S. Royal De Luxe synthetic tires are mileage-tested, proving over and over again that "U.S." synthetic tires are good tires!

How To Address Christmas Gifts To Men In Navy

With the Christmas mailing period for Navy personnel set for September 15 to October 15, Navy officials warned today that packages must be correctly addressed if they are to be delivered on time.

Last year 15 per cent of all Christmas packages were delayed from 60 days to six months due to incorrect addressing.

Following are examples of correct address forms:

If he's on a Navy ship: Lt. John James Roe, USNR, U.S.S. IDAHO, Fleet Post Office, New York, N. Y.

If he has a Navy number: John James Roe, Sic, USN, U.S.S. Naval Air Station, Navy Number 128 (One Two Eight), Fleet Post Office, San Francisco, Calif.

If he's a member of the Armed Guard: John James Roe, Sic, USNR, Armed Guard, S. S. Thomas Smith, Fleet Post Office, New Orleans, La.

If he's on a Merchant Ship: John James Roe, S. S. President Jackson, Postmaster, New York. In the left-hand corner of the envelope should be placed the name of the line—the Grace Line, for example.

If he's a Marine: Corporal John Henry Roe, USMC, Co. "A" Seventh Marines, Fleet Post Office, San Francisco, Calif.

If he's a Coast Guardsman: John James Roe, Sic, USCG, U.S.C.G. Potomac, Fleet Post Office, New York, N. Y.

Another Ruling On Political Speeches

Shortwave Time For Rebroadcast
Of Speeches Given To Five Parties

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—(INS)—The war department, which was thrown into a stew over President Roosevelt's recent address at Brenterton, Wash., today offered five political parties weekly shortwave time for broadcast of speeches to armed forces overseas.

Parties declared eligible for the radio time by having a presidential candidate in six or more states were the Democratic, Republican, Prohibition, Socialist and Socialist Labor.

Each party will be allotted equal time weekly from Sept. 1 to Nov. 1. They must use the allotted time each week as scheduled or forfeit it.

The announcement followed the war department's action of several days ago when it issued two contradictory rulings on President Roosevelt's Pacific tour. The department first granted the Socialist party radio time for an overseas broadcast, upholding the party's contention that the presidential speech was "political" but then revoked the ruling, removing the "political" tag from the address.

The second ruling brought a charge from Socialist Presidential Candidate Norman Thomas and Republican congressmen that it was made under "White House pressure."

Under the soldier vote law, the army may rebroadcast political addresses provided equal time, if requested, is given to each political party.

$2,000,000 Project
Will Bring $828,300

GREENSBURG, Pa., Aug. 28.—Purchase of Westmoreland Homesteads at Norvelt, Pa., by the project's residents entered its final phase after the residents and the Government reached an agreement setting the price at $828,203.

The Federal Public Housing Authority reported that terms have been agreed upon by an association of residents and the deal probably will be completed during September. Named for Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, the project originally cost $2,010,000, excluding a factory building. The sale price represents the present appraisal value, according to the FPHA.

A fire station and maintenance building, social and trade centers and 261 subsistence homesteads are included in the sale.

THE WORLD AND THE MUD PUDDLES

he took a small force and invaded England.

And as I said in the beginning, following the memorable battle of Hastings, William was not known as "the Conqueror" until many years after his death, and his official documents, a number of which are still extant, are all signed, "Wilhelmus Bastardus."

The Norman Conquest was one of the best things that ever happened in England. The Saxons were a simple people, living and dying within the limits of their respective shires, with no art nor letters, no knowledge of the outside world, no concern with the momentous history that was in the making, and no thought of progress.

The conquest conferred many advantages upon them, such as grafting on Anglo-Saxon institutions the better organization of the Normans, bringing England more in touch with European politics, with the consequent beginning of her ever widening foreign relations, the repression of internecine strife and the greater security of life and property, the great impetus given to architecture and the industrial arts, and the development of the old English language into modern English, enriching it with thousands of new words. Quite fitly in Hastings included in the fifteen galleys in the Norman settlement of Acadie, home of the happy.

So this is Normandy, land of memories, a beautiful and picturesque region, with well cultivated fields and fruitful orchards, kissed by God's kindly sunshine and rain. Its people are honest, intelligent and industrious folk, the best and most energetic of all French provincials, desiring nothing but that they be let alone, and that their life be permitted to pursue the even tenor of its way. Tired and worn by centuries of warfare, all they ask is peace—but there is no peace.

On August 13, 1730, Governor Montgomerie gave a warrant to the attorney general to prepare a new charter for New York.

Henry by this time was thoroughly anglicized and he became ambitious to resume Normandy and England, so he instigated a war, defeated his brother, seized Normandy and kept Robert a prisoner for the remainder of his life. Thus the center of gravity was changed:—England had been dependent on Normandy—Normandy was now subordinate to England.

During the Hundred Years War, when soldiers of the fourth generation battled on and on without having the slightest idea for what they were fighting, England won and lost Normandy twice, but the French won it last, and it has been a part of France ever since, if we except the temporary occupation by the Germans.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

and that his reasoning that what he earned was his to do with as he pleased, could not be defended in nearly all cases.

I have a deal of sympathy for this lad. Some very successful creators have two or more things going on over the same period of time. It has always seemed to me a kind of cowardly thing for a parent to hide an object which a child is told not to have or use. If this mother's word was dependable it should have been enough for her mere, to tell the lad he had to finish the first model before beginning the second.

Here I'm reminded of the parent I sometimes see telling a youngster four or five he can't have a certain object he already has in his hands and, after a few vain repetitions of this command wrenching it from his grasp, merely showing that the parent is physically stronger than the child. If the child had disobeyed he should have been punished effectively so he not only would obey this time but also the next time he was forbidden some object or activity.

Report British Request Recall Of Ambassador

By WILLIAM E. ZIMMERMAN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—Diplomatic circles reported today that criticism of the British policy toward India by President Roosevelt's personal representative, Ambassador William Phillips, has resulted in a British request for his recall.

The State Department announced on August 17 that Phillips was returning to the United States next month "for urgent family reasons." He has been attached to Gen. Eisenhower's headquarters in London since his mission to India last year.

During the course of that mission, according to the diplomatic reports, Phillips became alarmed at the apathy of the Indian people toward the war, especially in view of America's military position there.

Returning to this country early this year, Phillips conveyed his views to President Roosevelt, both in personal conversations and in a letter. Parts of that letter leaked out and were published.

The letter contained sharp criticism of British policy. As quoted in the press, it said:

"It is time for the British to act. They can do so by a solemn declaration from the king-emperor that India will achieve her independence at a specific date after the war."

This criticism, and the further irksome fact of its having leaked out, caused immediate and vigorous reaction in the British foreign office. Diplomatic sources say that British Foreign Minister Eden cabled Sir Ronald Campbell, British minister to the United States, urging an official investigation of the leak.

In London, both Eden and Prime Minister Churchill conveyed their displeasure to U. S. Ambassador John Winant, while a foreign office spokesman conferred directly with Phillips, asking if his views were correctly reported and if he still held those views.

According to diplomatic reports Phillips stuck to his guns, with the result that Eden cabled Washington that Phillips was no longer persona grata before the British government.

United Nations Delegates Show Optimism Now

By KINGSBURY SMITH
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—Delegates to the international security conference are almost as optimistic today that the United Nations will win the peace as American and British military commanders in France are that the Allies will win the war.

Returning from the battlefield in Normandy to the diplomatic front in Washington, this correspondent found the security conference delegates so encouraged by the first seven days of their work that they spent the week-end celebrating in New York.

Back from the glamor shows and night clubs of New York, the delegates resumed their task of streamlining the American, British and Russian security plans into one compromise agreement which they hope will constitute the foundation stone for future world peace.

One high ranking delegate predicted that full agreement will be reached within the next three weeks of a joint security plan pledging the United States, Great Britain and Russia to use force, if necessary, to prevent a third world war.

Agreed To Agree

"We have agreed to agree," this delegate said. "Substantial progress already has been made. The final agreement will represent a compromise of the three plans, but there is every indication now that it will be acceptable to the American government."

"The most encouraging development in the deliberations to date is the will on the part of all the delegates to reach an agreement. It is already evident that the representatives of the three powers realize there can be no lasting peace in the world unless the United States, Great Britain and Russia work together to prevent future aggression. There is good reason to hope that we shall win the peace."

The peace pact which the Washington security conference is framing is, however, a solidly realistic rather than an idealistic one. The primary objective of this pact is to prevent another world war—not to establish the four freedoms throughout the world.

Eventual establishment of the four freedoms throughout the world is the hope of the American planners, but it is not the immediate objective of any of the delegates to the security conference.

These delegates and their governments are approaching the peace question in what they consider to be a purely practical light. They believe that preventing another war is the first step toward establishment of a better world order.

Quadruplets Are Expected To Live

GAINESVILLE, Ga., Aug. 28.—(INS.)—Physicians had high hopes today that all the quadruplet boys born to Mrs. Charles E. Lee, 22, wife of Camp Blanding, Fla., army private, would live.

All appeared healthy and all set up just a few days after their birth last night at Hall County Memorial hospital. Each weighed about three pounds. The first was born at 6 p. m. and the fourth at 6:59 p. m. The babies were put in an incubator.

The Red Cross immediately sought permission for Pvt. Lee to return home on furlough to see the wholesale additions to his family. The Lees already had a three-year-old daughter.

Physicians said it was rare for quadruplets to be all boys.

Paris Is Found In Critical Need

Correspondent Tells Of Nazi Confiscation of Food Supply, Soap And Fuels

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

PARIS, Aug. 28.—The Nazis in Paris fattened on the silently-sponsored black market for four long years and milked the city of all but two per cent of its available foodstuffs.

That, in a nutshell, is the story told today by Parisians who lived in the city throughout Hitler's rule.

The Gestapo practiced its terror without restriction they said, and none could guard even remotely at the number of people killed or disappeared.

Last Minute Threats

Two weeks ago, when the fall of Paris became a foregone conclusion, Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels sent one of his underlings to the city to deliver a statement through the French press that the American victory parade would be short-lived and the Nazis would return in force in the immediate future.

He gave three reasons for this allegation. First, he claimed, was a secret and powerful accumulation of armor.

Second was the terrible effect of the allegedly forthcoming V-2, described as "a refrigerating bomb."

And third was the V-3, a bacteria bomb.

"Where's the Food?"

But despite the fact that the guns have scarcely had time to cool, Paris today is snapping its fingers at the Boche and displaying a holiday mood. All of us are being pined with questions such as whether food supplies are being rushed in.

The reason for this interest in food is that unless he has been willing to pay tenfold prices on the black market, the average Parisian has not had a hot meal in weeks. He's lived instead on parsley and what he could find in the surrounding countryside.

Here's thumbnail sketch of life under the Nazi heel:

One cake of sandy ersatz soap each month, no wine, no fruit, recently no heat or cooking fuels, no coal, electricity 45 minutes nightly (used by most residents to listen to Allied broadcasts), 50 gram of butter and 50 of meat monthly; 275 grams of bread each day—and long queues everywhere.

The French claim the Germans sponsored the black market to get foreign currency. The Nazis confiscated 98 per cent of the food supply while prices soared fantastically on the black market.

Correspondent Tells Of Shooting At Paris Crowd

Nazi Fire Into Crowds Gathered To Cheer Arrival Of Gen. Chas. DeGaulle

By LEE CARSON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
PARIS, Aug. 26.—(Delayed)—Gen. Charles de Gaulle, veteran leader of the Fighting French and head of his homeland's provisional government, stepped from his waving at the cheering crowds and turned to enter the Notre Dame Cathedral.

The length of the Champs Elysees was jammed with celebrating crowds from all over Paris. People milled in the streets, then from the rooftops came Hitler's parting gesture—bullets sprayed down through the crowds and children bled through their best clothes. Women in bright print frocks suddenly scrambled on the sidewalk.

The brave men and the frightened alike died in the afternoon sun of their first day of freedom.

Firing Begins
I was standing with three French couples, all members of the FFI, when the firing began. I was shoved roughly and efficiently to the floor and a hail of bullets zipped into the pretty white-walled drawing room. They burned with a deep pink flame on the gray rug and we lay there and watched, unable to get up without exposing ourselves to the sniper on the roof on the other side of the street.

Finally we crawled out of the room. The men picked up guns and we dashed down the street. People were crouched against the buildings or lying flat on the pavement in the middle of the street. A little girl with a big, red stain growing on her shoulder whimpered near the curb.

The firing stopped for a minute and people made cautious dashes for doorways. Every Parisian saw snipers in every doorway, on every roof-top, and most every Parisian had a gun and determination to do something about it.

Bullets Thicker
Bullets flew thicker and crazier than leaves in a Kansas cyclone. Suddenly the entire mob rose and flooded down the street, screaming angrily. Their faces were blotched with hate. Their mouths were pulled wide in howls of fury. In the center of the vortex, a short, burly man with a gray, frightened face, slashed and bashed against the fury of the mob. He put up his arms to fend off the blows. They tore at his arms and beat him more.

The Germans have earned this flaming revenge and any caught today will not live long. Hitler's last grim joke on the people of Paris is being slammed back down his own throat.

OUTSIDE LOOKING IN
NEW YORK.—(INS)—This life in the United States as reported in a Tokyo broadcast and heard by the FCC: "The shortage of foodstuffs in America is becoming more and more marked. In restaurants and hotels, meat is served only once a week. As far as butter and cheese are concerned, not even a shadow of them can be seen among the citizens of the United States. Whiskey and brandy can be bought, but all such beverages are adulterated and cost at least $15, sometimes $20 a bottle."

RHONE BRIDGES ARE DESTROYED; NAZIS BOTTLED

ROME, Aug. 28.—(INS)—The Mediterranean Allied Air Force offensive, directed at pinning down scattered Nazi garrisons in Europe's underbelly and preventing withdrawals and consolidations, was credited today with its first big success in southern France where it destroyed the strategic Rhone bridges and bottled up the Germans.

At the same time, Allied fighter bombers are engaged in "taming the Wehrmacht." Allied headquarters said, adding that Allied aircraft played a "telling part" in the recent Riviera operations.

Allied heavy bombers yesterday smothered Ratonneau Island—where heavily manned big coastal batteries are contesting the French drive into the sea-beside area—with high explosives. Ratonneau Island is west of the liberated port of Marseille.

Help America - and Your Family by Keeping Appliances Fit

Electric appliances have made good with their war job. Their endurance throughout this period when replacements are impossible surprised even the most optimistic. Of course, there have been some breakdowns that have gone beyond the point of repair. . . . Credit goes to manufacturers who built a good product, to home makers who have taken good care of their appliances and to electric repairmen who have used ingenuity in restoring breakdowns.

Your electric appliances still have a time to go before they can be retired and new ones to take their place. Don't ease-up on your careful use and extra care—then with the help of efficient electric repairmen in time of trouble you will not be denied the aid of your electric servant army.

GREENVILLE, Pa., Aug. 28.—No serious accidents occurred at Camp Reynolds during July, according to the military safety committee which held its first meeting last week.

On the committee are Earl F. Getz, camp safety director; Lt. Col. Porter T. Gregory, Lt. Col. Harry

T. Flock and Major Raymond G. Trampe.

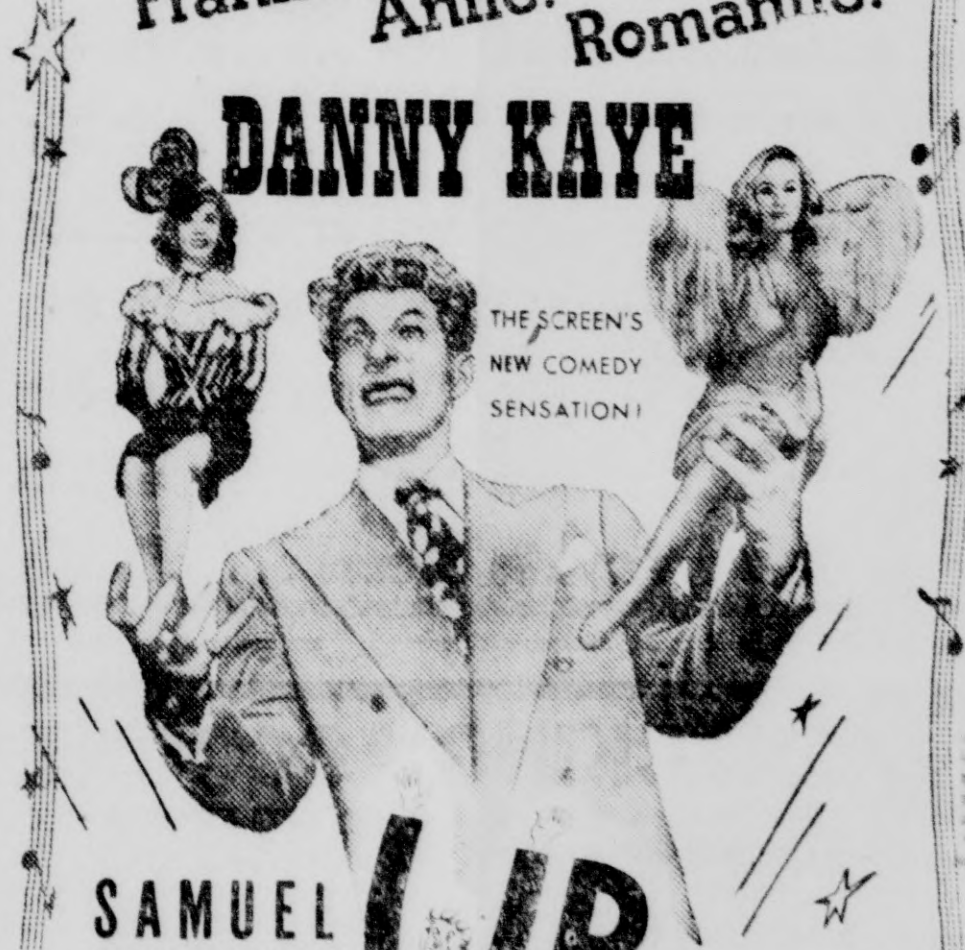

"Due to the fact it was the first meeting only July's accidents were discussed. Since there were no mishaps of a serious nature no action was recommended," Getz said.

Regular meetings will be held during the second week of each month in the future.

Estimate Paper Collection Total At Seventy Tons

No actual weights were available today for the waste paper salvage collection held in New Castle and adjoining townships on Saturday, August 26, but Joseph Hartman, collection chairman, estimated that approximately 70 tons of newspapers, magazines and cardboard had been collected. Five box cars were nearly filled and the estimate appears to be good.

The collection on Saturday was the fastest of any yet held. Starting at 1 o'clock the trucks covered the city in record time and by 4 o'clock all but a few trucks were at the cars with their loads. The last truck was in and unloaded by 6 o'clock.

The paper will be sold to processing mills, which in turn will convert it into pulp for paper products containers used in the war effort. The net proceeds will go to the Boy and Girl Scouts.

Chairman Hartman said the next collection will be held in New Castle on Saturday, October 21. Householders and business houses are urged to save their paper for that day and with the day definitely set now, it is hoped that the collection will be a record one.

Boy Scouts rode the trucks Saturday and in addition a detachment of 30 men from the Deshon annex in Cunningham park aided in the collection. Men from various industries were at the cars unloading the trucks and loading the box cars.

ELDERLY MAN HURT

William H. Shull, of West Washington street, was brought to the New Castle hospital at 8:30 p. m. Sunday, after he had fallen at the corner of South Mill and Division streets, sustaining a laceration of the head. He was brought in by Elmer Sleight, of R. D. 2, and William Halborn, of 339 Neshaunock avenue, who were near the scene when Mr. Shull fell.

YOUTH GETS HAND

William Sipe, aged 15 years, of R. D. 3, Volant, was treated at the Jameson Memorial hospital for a laceration of the right hand, sustained while helping about his father's farm, Saturday afternoon.

Police Official Facing Hearing

Accused Of Falsifying Fingerprint In Famous Sir Harry Oakes Murder Trial

By NORINE FOLEY
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

DEADWOOD, S. D., Aug. 28.—In this colorful old frontier town, highly technical evidence was assembled today to determine the innocence or guilt of James Barker, Miami police official, charged with falsifying a fingerprint in the famous Sir Harry Oakes murder trial.

Barker, former member of the board of directors of the International Association for Identification, is being tried by his fellow members for alleged unethical behavior in his representation of the crown in the trial of Count Alfred De Marigny for the murder of his father-in-law, Sir Harry Oakes.

Penalty in the event of conviction is expulsion from the association. The bludgeoned and burned body of Oakes, multimillionaire gold mine operator, was found July 8, 1943, in the bedroom of his luxurious estate at Nassau, in the Bahamas.

As Barker's trial opened today, he was charged specifically with improper investigation, improper procedure in the handling of fingerprints, discrepancies in testimony between preliminary and final hearings, especially with reference to time elements, and failure to preserve evidence necessary for court presentation and further investigation.

Those instituting the trial of Barker asserted that if the fingerprint shown by Barker at the trial had been that of De Marigny there would have been a blank bar across it where there was a groove in the screen. Instead, the print that Barker processed and used in evidence at the trial showed a background of circles, they said.

Defensive Fighting In France Is Nazi War Report Today

LONDON, Aug. 28.—(INS)—Today's German communique was mainly an admission of defensive fighting in France, with Allied progress allegedly restricted to "small gains."

Southeast of Paris, the high command conceded, the Germans were pushed back toward the lower Marne in violent fighting. North-east of the French capital, the Allied advance was halted, the statement asserted.

On the sector west of Rouen, the Allies sharply attacked German rear-guards on the southern bank of the Seine, but "all these attacks were repulsed by concentrated German defense."

Russian break-throughs in Romania were admitted; also the loss of Focșani, with general defensive fighting all along the eastern front. Allied air raids on Duisburg, Emden, Upper Silesia, Mannheim and Ludwigshafen were reported.

Gives Explanation Of Psychoneuroses

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—(INS)—Many veterans discharged from the armed forces for psychoneuroses have found former employers reluctant to rehire them because they believe them either "mentally defective or insane," Col. Arthur V. McDermott, New York City director of Selective Service, said today.

Colonel McDermott asserted that "nothing could be further from the truth" than this belief. A discharge for psychoneurosis, he explained, merely means that a man cannot stand up under the emotional strain of combat training and service, but that he may be perfectly capable of holding responsible positions.

He said he personally knew of scores of cases of men earning from $5,000 to $40,000 a year who were rejected as psychoneurotics. They were physically and mentally unable to bear the stress of military life.

Steelmaking Output At Lowest Point

CLEVELAND, Aug. 28.—(INS)—The magazine Steel said today that not weather, lack of workers and necessity for repairs to overworked open hearths have brought steelmaking operations to the lowest point in the war period, except for year-end and Independence Day weeks.

The publication predicted that the labor situation would be worse when working students return to school in the fall.

"Forward delivery on some major steel products has been relieved by further decline in buying and in increasing, though moderate, rate of cancellations and cutbacks," the magazine said.

Last week the national steelmaking rate declined two points to 95 per cent. Pittsburgh dropped one point to 90½ per cent; Youngstown, three to 92; Cleveland, three to 90; Wheeling, three to 92; and Cincinnati, four to 88.

Nazi Claim Allied Cruiser Is Sunk

LONDON, Aug. 28.—(INS)—The Nazi DNB agency claimed today that an Allied cruiser was torpedoed off the southern coast of France by "a naval weapon manned by an Italian."

DNB asserted the cruiser was struck astern and sank almost immediately.

Hitting at a new secret weapon, the Nazi agency claimed today that an Allied cruiser was torpedoed off the southern coast of France by "a naval weapon manned by an Italian."

Co-Pilot And Members Of Crew Walk Back To Safety After Bailing Out Over Nazi Territory

Lt. Alan T. Barnette, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur M. Barnette, of 223 N. Crawford avenue, is safe after having been listed as missing in action on August 10. The message that he was safe was received in a telegram from the War Department received Sunday morning. They also received a letter from him Sunday, and another this morning.

The first letter did not give many details, but the second one, received this morning, stated that he and the other members of his crew had to bail out over "Nazi land" and it took them several days to walk back to safety.

He is now in a rest camp somewhere in occupied territory, he states, and is O. K. It was his first mission after recovering from wounds received on July 15, for which he had received the purple heart.

Lt. Barnette, who is 19 years of age, has been in service since April 10, 1943, and had been overseas, serving with the 15th Air Force in the Mediterranean theater since June 1, during which time, he has seen plenty of action.

His father is a veteran of World War one, and saw action with the 28th Division in France.

Last Games On Schedule For Junior Teams Will Be Played This Week Here

Play in the American Legion Junior League will be concluded with the games scheduled this week, Chairman Earl C. Moffatt, announced today.

Cozy Corners are leading the league with but one loss, while Dean Park, their nearest competitor, has lost two. If both win their remaining two games, Cozy Corners will finish up in first place.

The schedule follows:

Tuesday
Fannins vs. Cozy Corners, Washington.

Thursday
Cubs vs. Cozy Corners, Washington.

Dean Park vs. North Hill Cards, Dean Park.

Wolverines vs. Fannins, Lehigh.

Music As Treatment In Nervous Cases

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—(INS)—Potentialities of music as an aid to medicine are being investigated by the United States Army, particularly in regard to treating certain nervous and mental disorders, the office of war information disclosed today.

Experiments carried on at Walter Reed General Hospital, Washington, D. C., by a group of musicians from the institute of applied music in cooperation with army psychiatrists, have proved "encouraging," it was reported.

Here's the way OWI says the experiment is being worked out:

"All music presented will be checked against a table of variables and applied in predetermined manner, subject to the requirements of the doctor in charge. Probability curves have been charted and these will be checked against actual results obtained."

"From this, greater refinements can be plotted, until the cause-and-effect principles have been established."

Bombers Batter German Troops

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, AEF, Aug. 28.—(INS)—Waves of light medium Allied bombers battered German troops, vehicles and barges concentrated on the west bank of the Seine at Rouen incessantly during the past 24 hours, despite intense anti-aircraft fire. Allied headquarters announced today.

Strong formations of fighters and fighter-bombers joined in the attacks and achieved "excellent results," according to the communique.

Other formations of light land medium bombers hit two fuel dumps at Bay Les Pierrepont and in the Forest Du Samouisy, north-west of Reims, as well as radio installations near Boulogne.

Fighters struck at locomotives and military vehicles and destroyed or damaged hundreds of railway cars over a wide territory from the mouth of the Seine to Luxembourg, Germany and into Denmark.

Heavy bombers again hit enemy shipping at Brest without loss. A total of at least 30 Nazi planes were destroyed in these operations, 16 in the air and 14 on the ground, while 17 Allied planes are missing.

Rate Of Pay For Labor Day

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 28.—(INS)—Labor Day is one of the six holidays named by an executive order which governs payment of premium wages for certain holidays and the seventh consecutive workday in a week. Ernest N. Votaw, regional attorney of the U. S. department of labor, said today.

"Employees engaged in work relating to the prosecution of the war who actually work on Labor Day are entitled to be paid time and one-half their regular wage compensation for their work on that day," he explained.

Votaw added that "this holiday premium may not be credited to or offset against regular overtime payments for hours over 40 in the week or eight in the day which are earned on other days in the workweek."

The cost of 312 feature length motion pictures and some 500 short subjects produced by major Hollywood motion picture companies in 1943 was about $247,000,000.

DENVER VICINITY STRUCK BY STORM

Worst Hail Storm In 30 Years Hits Denver, Damage Mounts To Million

DENVER, Aug. 28.—(INS)—Damage caused by the worst hail storm to hit Denver in nearly 30 years was estimated today at close to $1,500,000 after many thousands of farmers and victory gardeners from throughout the state reported their crops virtually wiped out.

In some places hail stones the size of golf balls piled up to a depth of seven inches.

Several floods resulted and tied up highway traffic, roofs of cars were destroyed and many greenhouses from all over the state reported practically every pane of glass broken.

Severe damage was suffered by farmers in Wheatridge and Arvada, two farming suburbs of Denver.

Hillman Reports $408,069 Spent To Date By P.A.C.

By WILLIAM THEIS
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—Sidney Hillman told Congress today that his CIO Political Action committee spent a total of $408,069 up to August 15 and in a statement denouncing his organization he called for immediate investigation of election year "agencies of reaction."

The PAC chairman was the first witness before the special House committee investigating campaign expenditures. He said he welcomed the inquiry but asserted the CIO does not believe it should be made the "exclusive object" of governmental investigation.

"We are within two months of the election," he said. "Yet I have heard of no investigation—in progress or proposed—of anyone of the many powerful and well-financed organizations which are engaged in political activity in this election year."

Other organizations which Hillman specifically cited as "over ripe for inquiry" were the American Democratic National committee, the America First Party, "Mr. Frank Gannett's Committee for Constitutional Government," the National Economic Council, the United Mothers of America, the Anglo-Saxon Federation and the National Association of Manufacturers.

New Blow By MacArthur Is Believed Near

By GEORGE LAIT
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, New Guinea, Aug. 28.—With all of New Guinea firmly in allied hands and other strategic islands either ours or rendered useless to the Japanese, competent military observers today reviewed the southwest Pacific campaign to date and pointed out the valuable lessons which will speed the drive to Tokyo.

The Japanese 17th (New Britain-New Ireland), 18th (Wewak) and second (Vogelkop) armies have been rendered ineffective. Of 300,000 estimated Japanese in the southwest Pacific, it is believed conservatively that 150,000 have been destroyed. The remainder all are contained and inoperative. Gen. Douglas MacArthur's losses have been less than one-tenth of those of the enemy.

Now the time is approaching when MacArthur may thrust out against the enemy's formidable defenses in the Ceram-Celebes-Halmahera-Philippines perimeter. While the site of MacArthur's next blow cannot be disclosed, competent sources are confident that he will stick closely to his strategic concept which proved successful at low cost, in earlier operations. This is a strategy of encircling the foe, of leapfrog tactics and of striking at points which the enemy holds weakly but which in our hands will cause him great difficulty by cutting off his forces and letting them wither on the vine.

The landings at Hollandia and Aitape are an example of these operations, whereby the enemy's 18th army at Wewak was cut off and contained between the Americans at Aitape and the Australians at Madang.

Cape Sansapor was another fine example of where the long leap up the New Guinea coast trapped the enemy's second army in the Manokwari area and neutralized it between the Americans at Sarmi-Maffin bay and at Cape Sansapor.

In each of these instances MacArthur struck at the comparatively weakly-held Japanese positions, thus sustaining minimum casualties and at the same time occupying positions which were embarrassing to the enemy and which forced him to come to us and fight, on terrain selected not by him but by MacArthur.

Our army in this theater, however, fights nature as well as the Japanese—and the former often is the more formidable foe. MacArthur realized this and by careful planning made nature help him in his task of reducing the enemy by attrition.

That MacArthur will continue to employ such strategy cannot be doubted, observers declare. And the Japanese are fully aware of it.

But they don't know where the next blow will fall. The only thing they are sure of is that when it does come it will be successful and will bring the allied forces closer to the heart of Japan.

Italian Guerillas Intensely Active

CHIASSO, Switzerland, Aug. 28.—(INS)—Italian guerillas are carrying on intense activity against German convoys and garrisons, a communiqué from the Italian National Resistance committee reported today.

The "Liberty" volunteers routed a German battalion near Voghera, southeast of Turin, with 200 killed or wounded. The "Julia" and "Beretta" partisans brigades, operating at Belluno, north of Venice, forced the Germans to retreat after a lengthy battle in which 500 men were lost.

The Germans were said to have shot 75 hostages at Udine.

New Shower Of Nazi Robot Bombs Lands In Britain

LONDON, Aug. 28.—(INS)—A new shower of Nazi robot bombs exploded in the London area and other regions of southern England late today, ending a 30-hour respite from the German terror weapon.

Several bombs came in east of the Standard in Paris reported that so many German mechanics have been killed in working on the V-1 that foreign laborers now are being compelled to do the job.

One French engineer who was invited by the Germans to visit the bomb sites was quoted as saying that many of them explode before taking off while others crash soon after leaving the ground.

Nazi mechanics figured that the average life of a man on the sites was 10 days, the correspondent concluded.

Traitors Are Being Seized At Marseille

By LARRY NEWMAN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

MARSEILLE, Aug. 27.—(Delayed)—Marseille resisted German occupation sullenly and murderously and today it is avenging itself against those who collaborated with the Nazis with quick, deadly vengeance.

The huge 18th century-style prefecture is where the drama of the quick and the dead goes on hourly.

Those hired thugs who sided with Jacques Doriot's band of traitors are herded into the courtrooms by cold-eyed French patriots for trials which many residents of the city never received during their four years of oppression.

I was in the prefecture last night when eight fascists were brought in by members of the FFI. The trials went on all night. Witnesses were called, the accused were examined, and the accused were permitted to bring their own witnesses. But those who could testify for these men were not found. They were the quick; the accused were the dead.

The most hated for the missing is pigish, sadistic Simon Sabiani, Doriot's popular party leader. Gestapo informer and torturer, Sabiani is none—the fled when the Allies landed—but Frenchmen who suffered under him have vowed to follow him to the ends of the earth for vengeance.

Sabiani wasn't alone. There were the mysterious Carbone brothers, one of whom is already dead in a "rail accident." His brother is the German, but he also faces the same fate as awaits Sabiani, his life haunted by the fear of death—but not sudden.

Blonde And Young Sailor Are Sought In Murder Mystery

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—(INS)—A mysterious blonde and a young sailor were sought today for questioning in connection with the slaying early Friday of pretty 40-year-old Mrs. Phyllis Newman, wife of a New York importer.

The blonde, described as "stunning," has been the object of a police search ever since it was learned she left Mrs. Newman's hotel with her a few hours before the victim's strangled, battered body was found in the bushes near the Hayden planetarium.

Hull told his news conference that Bulgaria officials have been in touch with different Allied governments recently on the question of that country's withdrawal from the war.

Pfc. Albert Osborn Killed In Action

Former New Castle Resident Killed In Action In France On July 25

Word is received here that Pfc. Albert S. Osborn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Osborn, of Johnstown, and formerly residents of this city, was killed in action in France July 25. It was previously reported that he was missing, prior to the official confirmation of his death.

Pvt. Osborn would have been 30 years old in October, and he served two and one-half years in the U. S. armed forces. He received his basic training at Camp Wheeler, Ga., and was stationed at Camp Edwards, Mass., just before he left for overseas.

Surviving are his parents, the following sisters, Mrs. John Hutzler and Shirley Osborn, of Johnstown, Mrs. Ernest Gallaher, of Pullaski, Pa., and a grandfather, William Schmidt, of East Washington street, this city.

Candidates For President Must File Expenses

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—(INS)—The Senate campaign fund committee revealed today that it is requiring candidates for the presidency and vice presidency to file reports showing contributions and expenses during the nominating campaigns.

The committee, of which Sen. Theodore Green (D) R. I., is chairman, sent "letters of inquiry" about 10 days ago to the candidates of the major parties. Letters to candidates of the minor parties "are just being sent out."

First returns were from President Roosevelt, made during his recent western trip; and from Sen. Harry S. Truman (D) Mo., his vice presidential running mate. The contents of these letters were not divulged, as they have not been seen by the committee members.

No answers have been received "so far" from Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, the Republican presidential candidate, nor from his presidential running mate, Gov. John W. Bricker.

No limitation is placed on expenses to gain the two highest offices in the land, though a full report of such expenses is required.

Weinberg Will Quit WPB Job Organize Here To Fight Polio

SCARSDALE, N. Y., Aug. 28.—(INS)—New York Investment Banker Sidney J. Weinberg said today he already has written his letter of resignation as vice chairman of the War Production Board and will submit it next week.

Weinberg termed the resignation of Charles E. Wilson as executive chairman of the WPB an "American tragedy" and said the charge that Wilson favored big business was "a red herring" made by "demagogues."

Wilson visited Weinberg yesterday and both said they would cooperate with Julius A. Krug, acting chairman.

Wotje And Yap Islands Bombed

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—(INS)—A Japanese broadcast said today that "enemy destroyers" had "shelled" Wotje in the Marshall Islands yesterday morning (Japanese time) as enemy aircraft again struck at Yap, some 600 miles southwest of Guam.

The broadcast, recorded by U. S. Government monitors, claimed that Japanese garrisons on Wotje had "repulsed" the American vessels and inflicted "losses."

According to the Japs, 10 Liberator bombers raided Yap in the morning hours.

Tregaskis Tells Of Celebration In Paris Streets

By RICHARD TREGASKIS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

PARIS, Aug. 26.—(Delayed)—Notes on one of the most historic days in modern French history.

2:30 p. m.—French forces of the interior swinging proudly up and down the avenue De Champs Elysees, preparing to get into position for review by Gen. De Gaulle on this liberation day. Black cars dashing about, each bearing tricolor markings. White-gowned Red Cross workers getting in position along the sides of the avenue carrying placards saying: "Libération. Vive De Gaulle!" Others carrying dates famous in French history.

I walked to the Arc De Triomphe past lines of tanks manned by blue and yellow-capped Spahis. A solid wedge of American-made half-tracks facing the Champs Elysees ranged across the face of the Arc. Looking down on the Kaleidoscope of women's dress and men's clothes in the crowd forming up. Near me uniformed police wearing shiny steel helmets drawn up and ready to form cordons, for it was expected to be one of the greatest crowds in history.

3 p. m. I climbed up to the top of the Arc De Triomphe and look down on the waves of mixed color spanning out in all directions from the Arc. A policeman on top of the tower says he's thrilled by it all, as every Frenchman is. He says he estimates the crowd at least 100,000 persons.

A great shout wells up from below and we see a train of long shiny cars approaching. De Gaulle leaves one of them.

I notice there are no Americans present except war correspondents and one American general. It was thought better to abstain from the French celebration while fighting was going on for liberation of the balance of France.

The American general is dressed appropriately in a woolen shirt, assault boots and a steel helmet with dust goggles on the brow.

De Gaulle, sober-faced, approaches the eternal flame. Attendees bring a huge bunch of orange gladiolas and a cross made of white carnations. The general stands at salute as bugles sound in honor of the war dead.

The crowd watches with tense faces. Suddenly a band crashes up to the Marcellaise, which all join in singing.

Governor Dewey Withholds His Security Ideas

PAWLING, N. Y., Aug. 28.—(INS)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, as a token of his desire to keep post-war international peace out of politics, is deliberately withholding public announcement of his very definite and detailed ideas about how that security can be achieved.

Gov. Dewey is said to feel that this is the most delicate stage in the task of arriving at an international understanding on world security, and that irreparable damage might be done if a controversy over details was precipitated at the time when the representatives of the great Allied powers are trying to build a mutual confidence foundation for the later construction of a workable organization.

The governor who will remain at his Pawling farm until mid-week to work on September campaign speeches, today cancelled plans to visit New Haven for a talk with John Foster Dulles, his chief advisor on foreign affairs, who has just returned from conferences with Secretary of State Hull, Wendell L. Willkie and members of the U. S. Senate.

Dulles, suffering from a badly infected foot, underwent a two-hour operation at a New Haven hospital yesterday and Governor Dewey does not want to intrude upon him at this time.

Navy's Top Ace Is Honeymooning

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—(INS)—Matrimony, in the opinion of Navy Lt. Alexander Vraciu, 25, of East Chicago, Ind., is "fine . . . mighty fine."

Lt. Vraciu, the Navy's top fighter ace is somewhat of an authority on the subject—he's been married since last Thursday.

The Navy hero, who knocked down 19 Jap planes in the South Pacific and destroyed 18 more on the ground, is spending his honeymoon here in New York.

Officials said that when the charts went to the printer indications were that the 20-point value would have to be established, but later figures indicated it was not necessary.

Butter To Stay At 16 Points In Coming Month

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—(INS)—Butter will continue at 16 points per pound when point values for September become effective next month.

This was announced by the OPA which explained that the point values will remain unchanged despite the fact that ration charts to be posted in food stores next month will list butter at 20 points per pound.

Officials said that when the charts went to the printer indications were that the 20-point value would have to be established, but later figures indicated it was not necessary.

Dubber Dan Day Golfers Pleased

Over 100 Young Men From Western Pennsylvania
Gather For Tourney

WILLIE GROMMES HAS 75 FOR MEDAL

New Castle's first Dubber Dan Day at Castle Hills golf course yesterday was a big success from start to finish. Over 100 young golfers under 50 participated in the day, played 18 holes of golf, had a fine lunch and won prizes for their efforts on the course.

Everything went off smoothly and the golfers went home around 8:30 o'clock after a fine day and pleased at the way the tourney was conducted by General Chairman Charles "Chuck" Ward, Andy Paytas, secretary and treasurer and the committee. All of the young men are looking forward to another tourney in 1945 even bigger and better.

Willie Grommes Medalist

Willie Grommes, the pride of Enon Valley, won medalist honors with a very fine 75 card for the 18 holes, which is three over par for the course. Stan Bukowski and Walter Yogan turned in cards for 76. Jack Kennedy had a nice 77 and Bill Twaddle from Allegheny had a 78 card, these being the low scores.

Following the playing of 18 holes starting at 12 o'clock, the golfers gathered in the grove and ate sandwiches and enjoyed refreshments until around 7:30 o'clock when the prizes were given out by George Wagner, chairman of the prize committee. J. E. Lampe won the door prize, blind boy prizes of cash went to Jimmy Dart, Bill Twaddle, of Allegheny, Joe DeAngelo of the Mahoning Country club of Youngstown, and M. E. Britt.

Committee Worked Hard

Golfers were present from Youngstown, Allegheny, Coraopolis, McKees Rocks, Ellwood City and Enon Valley. Many Segedi, Sylvan Heights champion was present and enjoyed the day.

Chairman Ward expresses appreciation to the committee, Mrs. Ethel Ludwig, and all those who made a success of the first annual Dubber Dan Day at Castle Hills. The committee members wives prepared the sandwiches and office with Mrs. A. J. Paytas and Mrs. Charles Ward in charge. Those helping were Mrs. Edward Miller, Mrs. Charles Walker, Miss Eleanor Bolinger, Mrs. George Wagner and Mrs. Paul Hunt. Bill Donkin, former Castle Hills manager also assisted the committee, as did Paul Hunt, Tucker Hockman, Dave Austin, and Bill Nunn of the Castle Hill club.

The committee handling the event were: Charles Ward, Charles Walker, Andy Paytas, George Wagner, Bill Yogan, Willie Grommes, Earl Velt, Tom Baum, Jim Evans, Larry Dell, Jimmy Dart, Al Egly, and "Bugs" Walther.

New Young Jockey Track Sensation

Little Eddie Yocum, 17, Has Booted Home Many Winners In First Year

EDDIE YOCUM
(By Central Press)

GROVE CITY, O., Aug. 28.—Little Eddie Yocum, 17-year-old apprentice rider from Indianapolis, Ind., boasts the highest winning percentage among the country's top racing jockeys.

Through Aug. 23 Yocum has accepted 341 mounts this year and has won with 112 of them for a winning average of 32.8.

However, the national jockey championship is determined only by the number of winners ridden and not on percentage. Ted Atkinson, the country's current No. 1 reinsman, has bootied 178 of his 983 mounts home in from.

Benat At Churchill
The 102-pound Yocum, a mild-mannered youngster with blue eyes and light curly hair, began his riding career at Churchill Downs, Louisville, Ky., last spring. He accepted 12 mounts at the Louisville course and rode one winner, kicking Lovely Dawn in first on May 3. Lovely Dawn was the ninth mount of his saddle career.

From Churchill, Yocum came to Beulah Park, Grove City, O., to win 33 races in a 21-day meeting. Then he went to River Downs, Cincinnati, to account for 43 races. After a rest, he resumed riding at Dade Park, Hendersonville, Ky., where he won nine races in a week. Now he is back at Beulah and he has won 26 times in the first 10 days of the 20-day meeting.

CITY LOOP MOGULS TO MEET TONIGHT

Johnson Bronze On Top With 11
Wins And 2 Defeats; Machinists Pass Moose

Tonight at the "Y" at 8 o'clock the city baseball league managers and officials will meet with President Mike Donovan to discuss the winding up of the second half of the league season.

All managers should make an effort to get to this meeting as a schedule of postponed games will be drawn up and each manager is asked to bring with him the number of wins and losses for his team in the second half. Only one representative of any team will be allowed at the meeting.

The Johnson Bronze by winning from the Moose in a heated battle at the field 6 to 5 that went ten innings, slapped the Moose club into third place with the Machinists climbing to second place, one full game over the Moose club. West Pittsburgh and Universal will attempt to play tonight at 5:45 o'clock at Deshon field, a postponed game from Sunday. West Pittsburgh and Shenango Pottery are not out of the second half race yet.

Conn Is Still No. 1 Challenger

Mike Jacobs Almost Had Heart Failure Recently
At Close Calls To
Louis And Conn

By DAVID J. WALSH
(International News Service Staff Writer)

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—It's a funny thing (and maybe it isn't) but twice within recent weeks we almost wound up without a world's heavyweight champion and on several occasions we very nearly lost the leading challenger. The leading challenger is Billy Conn, and if you don't think he isn't, then Mike Jacobs is wasting the $400 a month he's paying the guy as a retainer while he's in the Army. That's not news.

Neither is the fact that Bothy Louis, the heavyweight champion, and Conn were in a plane recently whose controls became frozen. In other words, we very easily could have wound up without both champion and challenger in one and the same accident.

Close For Conn

Conn, on his part, had a very narrow escape from one of those German robots which exploded in his vicinity. So that all told, the boys seemed to be having a very tough sort of a touristic war over there. With fighters so bad here, and most of the good ones being in chancery over there, it is interesting to get the comment of a man who has sat at many a local ringside and gazed with glee and doubt at whatever it was that took place. We can almost guarantee that he did that the other night when Joe Baksi was gaining a decision over Lee Savold, the ex-barkeeper who elected to become a fighter all over again and never quite lost his punch.

The melancholy spectator in question is a certain Dan Desmond who thinks that very few prize fighters have any special talent which he is at pains to point out in the following outburst:

"Funny thing but where the hell are all the heavyweights? Other weight classes have produced a steady run of adequate fighters men, despite the war, but with the big fellows, the situation is practically unchanged—Louis and Conn can't be lumped in a set of plurals as, for example, the Baksi, the Savold's and so on, offer but little choice of talent.

"There's Joe Baksi, young, strong, out-jawed mauler who can bruise with a swipe of a hand but has no snap in his punches.

"Or Savold, a quasi-civilian in that he's a merchant seaman, never the great fighter that he might have been because the pushing around in his early life made him wonder whether a tie and smoked cigars might not also roll him for whatever money he had in his overalls—because he came from the overalls belt.

"So the fact that he quit a couple of times and resumed fighting the same number of times indicates that the only illusion he had right now is deeply golden. No one can say that inside of him he's not really game. He can fight like hell but he's just a little cynical about becoming a millionaire overnight simply by taking two to get in one. You think he's a business fighter? Well, make a crack at his wife in a tavern when he's around and see whether he'll go."

MACHINISTS WIN FROM ALCOA, 8-2

Machinists Win Eleventh Game In Second Half By Taking Over
Aluminum Boys

I. A. Machinists stayed in the second half pennant race in the city baseball league yesterday at Booker T. Washington field by trimming the Alcoa team 8 to 2 behind the five-hit pitching of Joe Frigione. The Machinists have won 11 and lost 3.

Thornton on the hill for the Alcoa gave up 16 hits and was the losing hurler. Mosley led the hitting for the Machinists with four hits, two triples, a double and a single, while Harvatine paced him with a triple and double. Frigione was master of the game in every inning.

Dean Park Wins From Cozy Corners

League Leaders Handicapped By Absence Of Regular Catcher
In Game Sunday

In a game which went an extra inning, Dean Park Dodgers defeated Cozy Corners, 6-5 at Lehigh field Sunday afternoon, cutting the lead of the leaders to one game in the American Legion Junior league.

The game was a pitchers' battle all the way, with Vargo holding the first half champs to six hits, while Andrews, on the mound for the Cozy Corners, was touched for eight. The Cozy Corners were handicapped by the absence of their regular catcher, Jackson, and Joe Zeigler did veteran service but proved he is a better pitcher or infirmer when he committed three errors.

Miller, Dean Park's first baseman, singled in the winning run with one out in the eighth inning after Gentile had reached second.

Campbell, Dean Park outfielder, had a homer for the winners, while Gentile had a double. For the losers, Baxter had a triple and Shriver and Zeigler doubles.

JOHNSON BRONZE DEFEATS MOOSE

Score Is 6 To 5 In Ten Innings At Lee Avenue; Chill Features
At Bat

Jimmy Chill rifled a single to left-center to score Joe Ouzo and the Johnson Bronze went ahead in the top of the tenth inning 6 to 5 at Lee Avenue yesterday and that's the way the ball game ended, with the Moose Club being dropped to third place as a result of the I. A. Machinists winning from Alcoa.

The game was a pitching battle all the way between Sid Peterson for the Bronze and Andy Sargent for the Moose, with the former allowing 11 hits to 15 allowed by Sargent. The game was a ding-dong affair with the Moose in front in the first inning the Bronze went ahead in the fourth again and it was the Moose out in front again in the fifth and in the sixth it was 3 to 2 in favor of the Moose, but the Bronze came to life again in the eighth and ninth innings to tie up the game, at 5-5.

Monty Rainey led the hitting for the Bronzes with three safe blows while Smiley had three hits for the Moose Club. The win was the 11th for the Bronze against two defeats for the second-half.

Pottery-I.A.M. Battle Tonight

The Shenango Pottery and I. A. Machinists softball teams will battle tonight at 5:45 o'clock at Cedar street field (weather permitting), it was announced.

It will be another Vargo and Bishara meeting on the mound and the latter hopes to avenge that setback last Friday night. The Pottery had two more games to play, one with the Bronze and one with the P.R.R. team. The Pottery has won seven and lost two, according to Manager Vic Adamo and Coach Nick Ross.

Nelson Still In Tournament Lead

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—(INS)—The great field of golfers seeking the three big titles in the $42,500 All-American tournament trekked again today out to the Tam O'Shanter Country club to play the final 18-hole round which was rained out yesterday.

Byron Nelson, of Toledo, winner of the first two All-American tournaments, entered the stretch drive with a two-stroke advantage over his nearest adversaries, "Jug" McSpaden, of Philadelphia, and Corp. Buck White, of Fort Knox, Ky.

Nelson compiled a 34-hole score of 211, against the 213's registered by McSpaden, the defending champion, and Corp. White, the 1943 runner-up.

Betty Hicks, of Long Beach, Cal., and Ken Heilemann, St. Louis chemist, who led their respective divisions, the Women's Open and the Amateur, from the first round, clung to a slight advantage at the start of the final 18 holes.

Basora And Harris To Fight Tonight

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 28.—(INS)—Jose Basora, Puerto Rican, will attempt to make it three wins in a row over Ossie Harris, of Pittsburgh, in their 10-round middleweight clash tonight at Hickey Park.

Bronze Softball Team Tops Stars

Johnson Bronze Picnic Enlivened
By Softball Game; All-
Stars Shine

Johnson Bronze softball team, first-half champs in the Industrial league, had their hands full at the Johnson Bronze picnic at Cascade Park, Saturday, the regulars winning from the plant All-Stars 3 to 1. Bob Pascarella did the pitching for the regulars and gave four hits, while the winners clubbed Gabby Kendra for seven hits.

Tonsello featured at bat slugging a homer, while Bullano had two hits for the All-Stars and Pezzone and Clotta had one apiece.

To All-Stars had in the lineup such old time stars as President Flaherty, at right short, Sammy Bullano, Granger, Mike Diffley, Manager, Dout, Rod Pezzone, Clotta, and Monk Rainey.

The All-Stars were mostly members of the Johnson Bronze baseball team, and took a lesson from the Marionettes. Bud Russler was manager of the All-Star team.

Camp Workers Dined By Singing Society

As a mark of appreciation to the members of the society who have participated in the installation of the summer camp on Neshannock creek, the Einfracht Singing society held a picnic at the camp Sunday afternoon.

At noon a chicken dinner was served and in the late afternoon a picnic supper was served. A sizeable crowd attended. President Joseph S. Ewe welcomed the members in a short address.

The camp buildings, outdoor fireplaces and roads were all made possible through the volunteer work of members and as a result the society has an excellent camp located on 15 acres of ground along Neshannock creek.

Bethel Church Holds Women's Day Meeting

Women Of Many Creeds Attend And Serve On Program Of Interracial Mass Meeting

Attended by women of many creeds, the annual women's day meeting of the Bethel A. M. E. church took place as an inter-racial event, Sunday in the church auditorium, on Green street.

Under the leadership of Mrs. Pauline Pettigrew, Miss Corrine Garside, Mrs. Blanche Dillard and Mrs. Costella Griffin, four separate services were held. Principal speakers at the visitors' symposium in the afternoon were Mrs. Myrtle Dantzler, Miss Maud Gardner, Mrs. Helen Fielding, Mrs. Grace Phillips Johnson, Mrs. Carl Hart, Mrs. Raymond Williams, Miss Marguerite White, Mrs. Jesse M. Kerr, Mrs. P. Sulmonetti and Dr. Mary Baker.

Special music for the symposium was provided by soloists: Mrs. Esther Burris, Miss Juanita Alexander, Mrs. Verne Mitchell and Mrs. Bessie Jones. The St. John chorus sang several sacred selections, while Miss Leola Griffin played an instrumental number.

Speakers at the morning and evening services included Mrs. Willa Hawkins, Mrs. Augusta Miller, Mrs. Lillian Clark, Mrs. Iphigene Clark, Mrs. Jessie White, Mrs. Katie L. Choice, wife of the pastor of Bethel church, Mrs. Mabel Taylor and Mrs. Carrie Alexander. Mrs. Modella Clark, soloist, and Mrs. Lucy Miller, instrumentalist, presented additional musical selections.

Committee members who worked to make this program a success were: Nina Gilmore, Mabel Taylor, Augusta Miller, Dollie Coleman, Katie L. Choice, Bessie Fitzhugh, Costella Griffin, Emma Boyd, Margaret Gilmore, Catherine Lane, Willa Hawkins and Lucy Miller.

Predicts German Fall Next Month

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—(INS)—Rep. Andrew May (D Ky.), chairman of the house military affairs committee predicting Germany's collapse in September, asserted today that nation-wide "back-to-school" drives will ease the looming unemployment problem.

May's prediction of Germany's defeat next month followed announcement of concentrated efforts by the U. S. office of education, federal security agency, and the children's bureau of the labor department to drive teen-age industrial workers back to class-rooms.

"Soon as Germany's collapse occurs less jobs will be available and I predict that Germany will be defeated by September 15, May declared. "The approaching end of the war in Europe may be one of the prime reasons for the vigorous "back-to-school" drives as a part answer to unemployment."

The tremendous drop of one million in high school enrollment has caused the war manpower commission, the U. S. office of education, the labor department, and employers, teachers, and parents, to impress the nation's students with the importance of a high school education. Not since 1934 has the enrollment of high schools reached such a low ebb.

Not since 1934 has the enrollment of high schools reached such a low ebb.

The tremendous drop of one million in high school enrollment has caused the war manpower commission, the U. S. office of education, the labor department, and employers, teachers, and parents, to impress the nation's students with the importance of a high school education. Not since 1934 has the enrollment of high schools reached such a low ebb.

City Men Leave For Service Today

Small Number Leave This Morning To Begin Service In Armed Forces From City District

Another group of city men, those called up by Local Board Two, in the August draft, left for camp this morning via the Pennsylvania railroad. A fair sized crowd was on hand to see them off in spite of the inclement weather.

Farewell ceremonies were conducted by the Service Men's Aid committee of the U.S.O. with chairman Carl Turner presiding. Brief remarks were made by Charles E. Allen, of Perry S. Gaston Post, American Legion, and Rev. Walter R. Sommerfield, pastor of Christ Evangelical Lutheran church gave the prayer.

Seven Mines In Western Penna. Are Still Idle

Six Other Mines Go Back Into Vital War Production This Morning

(International News Service)

The United Mine Workers' drive to unionize supervisory workers today kept seven Western Pennsylvania bituminous operations closed, although six other mines went back into vital war production this morning.

It was estimated about 4,200 men were idle, with a daily loss to the war and home fronts of close to 30,000 tons.

The war labor board, meanwhile, met today in Washington to air the supervisory workers' dispute, scheduling a hearing for John McAlpine, president of the supervisory division of the U.M.W.

The drive for union recognition for all supervisory employees in the coal fields, was ordered last week to appear before the board and explain why the strikers had ignored a WLB order to return to work.

The dispute so far has affected mines of the Rochester & Pittsburgh Coal Company and the Ford Collieries Company.

An R. & P. spokesman said company mines still strike-bound were the Ernest, McIntyre, Lucerne, Waterman and Yatesboro, in Indiana and Armstrong counties, with about 3,400 men idle.

At the Ford Collieries, the Francis and Berry mines at Curtis-ville, were still down with another 850 men idle.

Six other mines which were closed last week for strikes and other reasons resumed operations today when their 3,200 employees returned to work.

These pits were the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation's Vesta No. 5, Pittsburgh Coal Company's Houston mine; Heasley Coal Company's Nanty-Glo mine and the three Clyde mines at Clarksville, which state officials reported were now safe. The Clyde mines had been shut down because of a fire in the nearby Imperial pit.

For a peaceful week end, at least the one just past, the city police stationed is recommended. Hardly a flutter of law violation occurred to disturb the calm of the city clink and the docket this morning was devoid of anything that looked like news.

A couple of citizens mistook their capacity for alcoholic beverages and paid small fines, there were several traffic violations and a youngster of 15 was picked up for suspicious actions. Aside from these there wasn't a stir.

LUNCHES FOR 70,000
PITTSBURGH, Aug. 28.—(INS)—The war food administration revealed today that more than 70,000 children in 220 schools of the Pittsburgh area last year benefitted from lunches which the organization helped finance.

The WFA contributed from two to nine cents toward each lunch, which in many cases, was the only nutritional meal the children enjoyed. It was pointed out.

Boys Get Chance To Learn And Earn

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 28.—(INS)—Plans were being made today for a group of 60 Pittsburgh high school boys to be given a chance to earn while they learn.

This fall the youths are scheduled to spend four weeks at Mount Alto, former Pennsylvania state Forestry school, where they will help pick the fruit crops in the vicinity and study under qualified supervisors.

After completion of their work period, the boys will enroll in regular academic classes studying farm problems in the class room along with their other studies.

Oak Street Group To Gather Thursday

Third Annual Reunion Will Be In Form Of Dinner At Epworth Methodist Church

With the closing of reservations today for the dinner meeting of the Oak street school reunion association, indications point to an attendance of around 100. President Walter C. DeArment announced today.

An effort has been made by the officers to get in touch with all former pupils but many may have been missed and those who have been can register with any of the officers.

There will be a brief program at the dinner session, and important plans will be made for the future at this gathering.
